

Stewart Cink lifted his seventh PGA Tour Champions trophy.

MAJOR FORCE

The season is young, and Stewart Cink has already put his stamp on it, continuing his dominance Sunday with a victory at the Senior PGA Championship, his first major on the PGA Tour Champions.

His third win in five appearances this season came in runaway fashion by six shots, remarkable considering he started the final round one shot back. Starting with an eagle on the 7th hole, he went 8-under over his final 12 holes, his 9-under 63 setting a course record at Concession Golf Club in Bradenton, Fla.

Cink's run of success began last season, when he won three times and captured the Charles Schwab Cup points title.

PROS FACING MAJOR TEST

The first of five majors on the LPGA schedule brings 16 PING pros to Memorial Park Golf Course in Houston, Texas, for The Chevron Championship.

Lauren Coughlin has started the season strong, winning the Aramco Championship earlier this month for her third career title. The victory helped her move up to 12th in the Rolex Women's World Golf Rankings.

Leona Maguire, runner-up to Coughlin at the Aramco, will compete. She'll be joined by Hye Jin Choi, whose T5 and a T8 this season have helped her climb to 17th in the world.

PING SHOT
OF THE WEEK

Harris English was on point all week at the RBC Heritage, including his drive on the final hole with his G440 LST aiming toward the historic lighthouse at Harbour Town Golf Links on Hilton Head Island, S.C. English, who's from Sea Island, Ga., a couple of hours away, came home with his best result of the season, a T4 at the Signature Event, which moved him inside the top 20 in the Official World Golf Ranking to 18th.

Shuri Sakuma comes over from the Japan LPGA Tour, where in March she claimed her fifth win in the past year. The field includes reigning

U.S. Open champ Maja Stark, Allisen Corpuz, herself a U.S. Open title holder, and Jennifer Kupcho, a past winner of the Chevron.

HYBRIDS CLEAR #1 ON LPGA

How dominant are PING hybrids on the LPGA Tour? Since October of 2024, PING has been the #1 hybrid brand at every LPGA event*. At last week's JM Eagle LA Championship, PING accounted for nearly 40% of all hybrids with 72 in bags; the nearest competitor had 34. G440 hybrids represented 52 of the 72 in play.
