

4-WIN WEEKEND

SUZUKI EARNS WIN #23

Part of a multi-way tie for the lead on the back nine, Ai Suzuki showed her veteran form, pulling clear with birdies on 14 and 15 to win by two, claiming her 23rd victory on the Japan LPGA Tour at the Fujitsu Ladies.

After eight top 10's this season, she earned her first title playing a bagful of G440: G440 K driver, G440 fairways and G440 hybrids to go with Blueprint S irons and a Scottsdale TEC Ally Blue Onset putter.

See her What's in the Bag, next page.

HOSONO'S DOUBLE MAJOR

Yusaku Hosono's first career win on the Japan Golf Tour was a major, coming at the Japan PGA Championship in May. On Sunday, win #2 was also a major, as he took the Japan Open Golf Championship, becoming the first player since 2008 to win both titles in the same season.

Hosono, #1 on the JGTO points list, earned invitations to next year's Masters and the Open Championship. See Shot of the Week on page 2.

In his bag were a G440 LST driver, G440 MAX fairways and more PING technology.

Seo Young Ma

MA BREAKS THROUGH

On the second hole of a playoff in rainy, windy conditions, Seo Young Ma captured her first career win at the inaugural Iceberg Golf & Seoul Shinmun Open, securing her Korean LPGA Tour card through the 2028 season.

She played a G440 MAX driver, G440 MAX fairway, G440 hybrids, i240 irons, s259 wedges and a PLD Custom Anser 4D putter.

SHOT OF THE WEEK

A first-ever trip down Magnolia Lane and a visit to the Old Course at St Andrews await Yusaku Hosono, who will play the Masters and The Open for the first time after he won the Japan Open Golf Championship on Sunday. The tournament is part of a joint initiative between Augusta National Golf Club and the R&A that awards invites to winners of select opens.

Hamish Brown

BROWN IS BEST IN CHINA

Hamish Brown won the Hangzhou Open in China, his third career victory on the HotelPlanner Tour.

Brown leads the Road to Mallorca Rankings heading into the season finale, where DP World Tour cards will be handed out to the top 15.

Brown's victory with a G440 LST driver was one of four wins on pro tours Sunday for G440 models. In addition, he played a prototype mini driver, G440 MAX 5W, Blueprint S irons, s259 wedges, and a 2024 Tyne H putter.
